Ethicon Endo Snapshot

Click here to go back to main page.

Ethicon Endo Surgery
Brief Description	Ethicon Endo-Surgery is a key part of J&J's Medical Devices and Diagnostics segment and contributes about 19% of its parent's yearly revenue. The unit has achieved successful sales growth for its parent in recent years, especially in its advanced sterilization product lines and its energy devices, which include the Harmonic ultrasonic surgery tools and its EnSeal bipolar tissue sealing systems.Ethicon Endo-Surgery markets advanced medical devices for minimally invasive and open surgical procedures that transform patient care by drastically reducing surgery time, mortality rates and complications arising from surgery.
Revenues	2008: 4.286 million USD 2009: 4.492 billion USD 2010: 4.758 billion USD
Number of employees	1494
Year Established	1992
Headquarters	4545 Creek Rd. Cincinnati, OH 45242, United States
Key People	Chuck Austin (President) Karen Licitra (Chairman)
Geographical revenue breakdown (2010)	US: 41.5% Rest of world: 58.5%